Failure of the Border City and Sagamore Mills at Fall River.

LARGE DEFICITS.

The Property in Legal Custody at the Suit of Employes.

HISTORY OF THE MILLS.

FALL RIVER, April 23, 1878. The city was thrown into a violent state of excitement to-day by the intelligence of the lailure of the Border City and Sagamore Mills. The matter was at first dealed by the officials, but not positively, and it is accepted as an established fact. The Border City is a complete wreck, and is about on the same ing as the Union, which was sunk by the operations of S. Angier Chace, whose hand also appears in the wreck of the Border City. The management of the latter seems at a hasty glance to be no better than that of the former. Last Thursday two notes of the Border City aggregating $10,000 went to protest in Providence and since then the ingenuity of the managers has been exerted to cover up the difficulties and prevent misstatements of the treasurer. The was "all right" and they succeeded in temporarily allaying suspicion. They claimed that all the shortage could be made good and the mill would go on as usual a prosperous fluancial condition. A direcnegotiated $35,000 for the purpose of "fixing" things up to meet all inquiries. But he found that other paper was maturing rapidly and that it would sary to ask for other loans, so he suggested what condition the corporation really was. Experts were at once employed to make a thorough examinatheir work. It was at first currently believed that the deficit would reach half a million. This, of course, inluded the Sagamore Mill, lately merged into the Border City.

Hathaway, president; George F. Hathaway, trens-urer; Charles P. Stickney, E. C. Kilburn, S. Angier ce, Job T. Wilson, Chester W. Greene, Holder B.

Hathaway, president; George F. Hathaway, treasurer; Charles P. Sitcheny, E. C. Kiblurn, S. Agore Chace, Job T. Wilson, Chester W. Greene, Holder B. Durfee, George Pracons, Isaac Smith (Foxbero) and David Wilcot. Previous to the burning of No. 1 military had been running over eighty thousand spindies and the prince of the land of the property of the college of the land of the property connected as discettors of the Union and are reported to have been insury were connected as discettors of the Union and are reported to have lost everything by the failure. If this affair results as disastronity as now reported it will endeathed the hands of Deputy Sheriff Wixon. This moraling eight Superior Court writs of statebrane were issued in lavor of the following named employeds of the military of the following named emplo his hands when the Union Mills crash came. Owing to the close association of Mr. Chace and Mr. Hathaway suspicion was immediately aroused as to whether the Border City was all right. Mr. Hathaway assured the directors that all was right; but that was not sufficient. They began to inquire for the insurance measy. Evasive answers were given, which only served their purpose in putting off final inquire?

which only served their purpose in puting of final inquiry.

HATHAWAY PROBABLY SOON TO BE ARRESTED.

The capital stock of the Boston City Mill, which was always represented by Treasurer Hathaway as all paid in, now appears only to have been about three-quarters paid. The feeling expressed against Hathaway by many is very bitter and his arrest will not probably be delayed as long as that of Canec. He has persistently faisified affairs to the directors since the Union Mills delaiention. His friends claim that he can show that pot one dollar of money has been appropriated to his own use; that the original loans of money to Chace were made in good faith; that Hatlaway had property enough to noid his corporations sarmless, and until within a few days he believed his mills would not lose, and that the recent loans to Chace had been made because the latter threatened and drove him into a course of action which he never intended.

recent loans to Chace had been made because the latter threatened and drove him into a course of action which he never intended.

UNION MILLS STATEMENT.

A meeting of the stockholders of the Union Mills was held to-day, at which a statement of the financial affairs of the corporation was presented. The valuation of the mill property is $908,120 29. The amount of the mill property is $908,120 29. The amount of the regular notes custanding against the corporation is $433,663 53. The amount of irregular notes remaining unpain is $508,407 77. The whole amount of irregular notes is suced was $536,407 77. The total amount of regular and irregular or irraudulent notes is $342,991 36. The amount of bills payable, in addition to the notes, as far as known, will probably not exceed $60,000. The property of the company is placed at a low estimate, and it the illegitimate notes are not included in its liabilities the company will have a valuable property lot after paying all its longitumes notes, and, even should the corporation be held fiable for the irregular notes, it will be able, at the present valuation of its property, to pay very nearly one hundred cents on the dollar. Mr. John B. Anthony recommended the contesting of all notes, so that it could be ascertained which were legal and which were iraudulent and void; also that the present Board resign and a new organization be formed, and that they advertuse for all demands against the corporation to be presented immediately. No action was taken upon the suggestions, but a resolution was adopted to appoint an Advisory Committee, consisting of Measrs, John B. Anthony, Thomas E. Brayton and James M. Morton, Jr., to advise with and assist the corporation in regard to the course and condition of the corporation, siter which the meeting adjourned.

BANKERS GOING TO WASHINGTON.

George S. Coe, president of the American Exchapge National Bank; F. B. Tappan, of the Gallatin National; Joseph W. Seligman, and George Bliss, Sr., of Morton, Blas & Co., start for Washington to-day to testify before the Finance Committee in relation to the syndicate and government bonds.

CERVANTES' CELEBRATION.

The entertainment in commomoration of the anniversary of the death of Cervantes, gotton up by prominent Spanish residents, which takes place this evening, promises to be an interesting affair. A striking feature will be the reading of a poem to the memory of Cervantes, which William Cullen Bryant has written especially for the occasion. The pro-

Hughes reappeared on the track, his rest amounting to 33m, $2z$. The 31st mile, less the shortage of 205 feet, was walked in 12m. 22s. During this mile catment gruel was given him and he seemed partly satisfied. The 35th mile required 14m. 47a., during which he ran one lap and stopped twenty seconds. He retired from the track on the forty-second mile and rested 23m. 56s., the sect on his right foot being changed. Lumeness was noticed in this mile, and it was subsequently ascertained that the until of the large toe of quently ascertained that the unit of the large toe of the right foot was troubling him. Goss did not ex-press 20 much confidence in his man at this juncture. The forty-second mile required 38m. 43a, and the time of the morning was 3h. 4m 59s. Hughes had gone just 49 miles and 5,180 feet at 5b. 27m. 23s. -daybroak yesterday merning. The

The 49th, 51st and 52d miles he ran, requiring respectively 5m. 43s., 9m. 10., 9m. 40s. to accomplish At hall-past seven o'clock 60 miles were to his credit, when his attendant told the "Groenborn" to retire and obtain his breakinst. He did so very willingly and rested 52 minutes, the morning meal consisting of steak, dry toast, eggs and too.

Sixty Milks.

In twelve hours 60 miles and 690 feet were recorded as Hughes' performance. Frequent rests were begged for and obtained during the morning, but at 12a. 19m. 65, he had gone 74 miles and 5,130 feet. Drinner was given bim on the seventy-ninth mile, being absent 35 minutes from the track. Along in the atternoon Hughes ran a lap now and then, and with occasional robbing down, he again retired for supper at 7h. 8m. 555. last evening. By this time Hughes had become very weary, his last mile before retiring requiring 17m. 26s. Harry Hill now sent for a chiropodisi, who upon arrival 'doctored'' the "Greenhorn's" toe nails off his right foot. He was then given a Turkish bath, when supper was placed before him. He partook very springly of the steak and toast, complaining that he was not hungry. Brandy was called for and a mouthin given him. So despondent did Hughes seem at this time the gentlemen in the room began to chaif him, thinking they might arouse his ambition, but the effort proved fruitless. Goss said to an inquirer, "He's got a bad foot, but he's get a worse place here" (placing a hand over his heart). At the expiration of twenty-lour hours, Hughes was benind O'Leary's recent performance in London 17 miles and 200 feet, and over 20 miles behind what has been fairty waiked by O'Leary, Weston and several English pedestrians in that time. At 8b. 41m. 20s. Hughes again appeared, having been off the track th. 32m, 25s. He booked forlorn, indeed, and as he could not piace his right foot lairly down, his progression was slow. From that time until 10n, 4m. 40s. he overed six miles only, when he again retired, this time to si and Haverly lared even worse, his nose being broken and both eyes completely closed. The fight was for $100.

THE FIGHT.

ROUND 1—At the call of time both men toed the mark, and, instead of the usual formalities of shaking hands, prepared for business. A total disregard of the rules of the prize ring was included in and both men began to force the fight. Hearn led off with his right, and, catching Haverly on the left cheek, opened it wicely. In resurn Hearn received a sledgehammer blow upon his pasal organ, breaking it and causing him to stagger to his corner. But, regaining himself immediately, he faced his antagonist, when a rough and tumble light ensued until the men were separated by their respective seconda. Round 2.—Both men responded promptly, but it was quite evident that Haverly was being worsted. After some leigning both men forced the fight, when Hearn caught linverly and threw him howvily across the ropes. A cry of "Foul!" was raised and there was every evidence of a general fight among the friends of both parties. The light was, however, resumed, Haverly at this point showing signs of weaktness, and Hearn, though almost blind, auxious to force the light. Maddened almost to desperation at Haverly's irricks at dodging Hearn wildly let fly his leit and caught lilaverly beneath the chin, completely lifting him of his feet and felling him to the ground, where he lay in a semi-conscious state.

When time was called at the third round Haverly falled to answer, act the light was given to Hearn. At this juncture a cry of "Police!" was raised, and a general stampede ensued, the two pugilists being let alone with their seconds, unable to move from the floor of the barn in consequence of their injuries. During the night they were removed by irrends.

The police of the Iwolith precinct got wind of the flart, and Sergeant Mecks, with two of his officers, repaired to the scene but a short time after the removal of the men. Netwithstanding that diligent search has been made by the police no traces of their wheresb

THE POLICEMEN'S DOGS. TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD :-

There is a dog ordinance, as so all know, which is in force all the year round, and the police by its terms are in an especial manner required to enforce All policemen on patrol duty must report all violations of this ordinance.

of this ordinance.

This being so, how can you account for the fact that the policemen on patrol duty are by a large majority the greatest violators of the ordinance? There is not a precinct in the city that has not its particular gang of unifeeneed curs, which after minnight up to daylight accompanies some one of the officers on his beat. Now why is this so? The police superintendent should see to it that the men who are employed to enforce the city ordinances are not the citief violators.

THE NEW TRIAL MASTERS.

Governor McClettan has determined to appoint Judge John Hopper, of Paterson, N. J., Trial Master for the district of Northern New Jersey. The office is one created by an act of the last Legislature and is virtually that of a vice chancellor. There are to be four trial masters of the Chancellor. There are to be and the bill was drawn at the request of Chancelor Runyon to rolleve him of a portion of his accumulated labors, and dispose of the business of the Court.

EVIDENCE ON BEHALF OF THE HUSBAND. POUGHKHEPSIE, April 22, 1878.

William Ross came up agein to-day before Referee Fowler. The first witness was Nora Herrick, of Hyde Park, a girl eighteen or binoteen years of age. She has lived in the Ross family seven Mr. Thorno questioning her. She testified that she never heard Mr. Ross speak angrily to Mrs. Ross, but beard the latter speak angrily to him; once, when he came from New York, between eight and nine in the knocked and expositulated with him for coming home without notifying her, saying his room was torn up and filled with flowers, and told him togo away or she would set the dogs on him, that she had no place for him to sleep; he replied that he had just come from a hotel and could go back again; witness had seen the dogs on the sola covered up with afghans, and on the lounge, &c.; had heard Mrs. Ross say soo liked to have the dogs about, and Mr. Ross said they made it very unpleasant for him; witness had often heard Mrs. Ross call Mr. Ross "a big Satan, big devil," &c.; Mr. Edwards, the hostler, used to come to the house at times and stay all hight; Mrs. Ross bought witness a new dress to come to the trial with; witness always had enough to eat in the house; once Mr. Ross level her a pile of dry goods bills to take to Mrs. Ross to indorse "correct" on them, but Mrs. Ross frequently call Mr. Ross names in the presence of the servants and culdren.

MRS. Ross declined to do so, because, as she said, she couldn't tell whether they were correct or not; heard Mrs. Ross frequently call Mr. Ross names in the presence of the servants and culdren.

MRS. Ross calling was the next witness. She worked in the Ross family six or seven years off and on as washer and ironer; she had heard Mr. Ross speak hastily to Mrs. Ross, but not angrily, and had four days. Ross call him "a big devil—a hear;" and then added, "I felt sorry for both;" she never saw a hek of provisions in the house, Mr. Ross always ordering what was needed; at first and didn't think he was quite so good; Mrs. Ross, she said, was very irritable, and sometimes witness thought her mind was impaired.

A TROWEL THROWN.

William Moore testified that he worked two years for Mr. Ross, taking care of horses, &c.; one morning Mr. Ross told him to put some ice in a refrigerator; witness was exercising a colt; he went to do the ice job, and was writing for the refrigerater to be cleaned when Mr. Ross calm et pand and, "William, you here you?" to which Mrs. Ross were fixing a knocked and expostulated with him for coming home without notifying her, saying his room was torn up
